Community centers and knowledge workers contributed greatly in the nation building by ensuring an efficient delivery of crucial government and Information and Communications (ICT) services especially in the countryside.

The Department of Information and Communications Technology (DICT) recognizes that the advancement of digital technologies and ICT-enabled services can allow the communities to leapfrog towards a more progressive and digitally empowered society.

In line with this, DICT Tech4ED Project will host this year's Tech4ED Cluster Conference with the theme "Tech4ED, Tech for All". The conference shall serve as a venue for dynamic discussions among knowledge workers and development partners on new strategies and emerging ideas in the filed of ICT and public services that are central to countryside development.
