Re: Conference on Artificial Intelligence in Education (AIED) 2025
July 17-18, 2025 Loyola School of Theology Ateneo de Manila University Campus, Quezon City

As artificial intelligence (AI) rapidly reshapes the global landscape, education stands at a critical crossroads. AI has the potential to transform how we teach, learn, and assess—but it also introduces new complexities, ethical dilemmas, and policy considerations.

Teachers are often on the front lines of technological change, yet they are rarely given the support and training needed to adapt effectively. At the same time, students increasingly use AI-generated content and automated problem-solving tools, prompting the need for educators to respond with informed, ethical, and practical strategies.

This conference is designed to equip teachers, school leaders, and other educational stakeholders with the knowledge, tools, and critical perspectives necessary to navigate the growing influence of AI in educational settings. Rather than framing AI as a disruptive threat, the event will explore how it can serve as a powerful ally—when used responsibly, ethically, and strategically.

Hosted in a hybrid format—both in-person at the Loyola School of Theology, Ateneo de Manila University Campus, Quezon City, and online via Zoom—the conference will feature keynote presentations, panel discussions, and hands-on workshops. These sessions will be led by practitioners in education, technology, and policy, and will offer valuable opportunities for networking and collaboration with fellow educators and innovators from across the region and beyond.

The sessions and workshops will focus on critical themes, including:

Digital Ethics in the Age of AI

Explore the moral and ethical implications of AI use in classrooms, including algorithmic bias, data security, and student rights.

AI Policy Making in Academic Work

Understand the emerging institutional and governmental policies related to AI, academic integrity, and responsible usage.

AI-Enhanced Lesson Design

Discover how to use AI tools to personalize learning, create dynamic content, and enhance student engagement—while maintaining pedagogical principles.

The Use of AI in the Classroom

Manage AI use by teaching students how to critically evaluate AI-generated information, verify sources, and uphold academic integrity in the digital age.
